

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
AUSTIN DIVISION

IVAN ARNOLD, an individual, on behalf of himself and all others similarly situated, vs.

Plaintiff,

HOMEAWAY, INC., a Delaware corporation, and DOES 1-10,

Defendants.

Case No. 1-16: CV-00374

ORIGINAL COMPLAINT

Plaintiff Ivan Arnold (“Plaintiff”), by and through his undersigned counsel, brings this action on behalf of himself and all others similarly situated in the United States against defendant HomeAway, Inc. (“HomeAway”). Plaintiff alleges as follows:

SUMMARY OF THE ACTION

1. This action arises from defendant HomeAway, Inc.’s bait and switch tactics which have materially damaged Plaintiff and hundreds of thousands of other vacation home owners and managers.

2. Prior to February 9, 2016, HomeAway, through its various website properties (including, inter alia, HomeAway.com, VRBO.com and VacationRentals.com) operated as a vacation rental marketplace. It principally served 2 categories of users: (1) vacation home owners and managers who wanted to rent those homes to tenants on a short term basis (“owners”), and (2) travelers who wanted to rent vacation homes on a short term basis (“travelers”).

3. As a vacation rental marketplace, HomeAway charged the owners who used its websites annual subscription fees for the right to list their vacation homes for rent on one or more of HomeAway's website properties. In exchange for those fees, vacation home owners could list their homes for rent on one or more of HomeAway's websites, and could access and use various booking, tracking and financial tools provided by HomeAway.

4. As a vacation rental marketplace, HomeAway did not charge any fee to travelers looking to rent vacation properties from HomeAway's homeowner customers. Travelers could search the site, locate a vacation home to rent, communicate with the owner of the vacation home and rent the vacation home without paying any fee to HomeAway.

5. Owners vastly preferred this marketplace model whereby they paid the costs of listing and renting their vacation properties through HomeAway's websites and travelers were required to pay nothing other than the cost of the vacation rental itself. Owners preferred this marketplace model because many travelers would be deterred from renting owners' vacation homes if they were to be charged fees on top of the cost of the rental itself. In other words, if travelers were forced to pay a fee whenever they rented a vacation home, owners would lose bookings and lose money.

6. HomeAway was well aware of these facts. As a result, it consistently represented that it would not charge fees to consumers, saying, "We are going to be free to travelers." Instead, HomeAway said it earned and would continue to earn its revenues principally by charging annual subscription fees to owners and by charging additional fees to those owners for other, optional, services and tools.

7. In reliance on HomeAway's marketplace model and its accompanying promise that it would not charge fees to travelers, Plaintiff and hundreds of thousands of other owners entered into year-long contracts with HomeAway for the right to list their vacation homes for rent on HomeAway's websites. In exchange for that right, Plaintiff and other owners paid HomeAway hundreds or thousands of dollars per property they wished to list on HomeAway's sites. For example, Plaintiff's total subscription fee for a single vacation home for 12 months was $1,848.00.

8. HomeAway knew that Plaintiff and other owners were relying on its marketplace model, including its promise not to charge fees to travelers, when they entered into year-long contracts with HomeAway and paid their annual subscription fees.

9. And, indeed, Plaintiff and other owners had every reason to expect that HomeAway would continue to follow this marketplace model and remain free to travelers. The contracts that Plaintiff and other owners entered into with HomeAway specified that the charges in effect at the time Plaintiff and other owners entered into their subscription agreements with HomeAway would govern throughout the term of those agreements (i.e., for one year). Meaning that, since the charges in effect at the time Plaintiff and other owners entered into their subscription agreements did not include fees to travelers, HomeAway was contractually prohibited from charging fees to travelers during the year those contracts were in effect.

10. Despite that contractual provision and despite HomeAway's prior representations that its sites would remain free to travelers, on February 9, 2016, HomeAway unilaterally abandoned and materially changed its model and rate structure in the middle of Plaintiff's and other owners' one-year subscription periods.

11. Without regard to the significant negative impact it would have on owners' ability to rent their properties through HomeAway's websites, on February 9, 2016, HomeAway abandoned the marketplace model to which it had previously adhered and to which it had previously promised it would continue to adhere, and instead adopted a materially different "online travel agency" model ("OTA model"). Among other things, under this new OTA model, HomeAway began doing precisely what it promised it would not do -- charging fees to travelers.

12. Those newly instituted "service fees" to travelers, which range from 4% to 10% of the total price of the vacation rental, have had precisely the effect Plaintiff and other owners feared: they have reduced the number and value of bookings by travelers, resulting in significant damage to Plaintiff and other owners.

13. By this action, Plaintiff seeks compensation for the damages he and other, similarly situated owners have suffered as a result of HomeAway's breaches of contract and fraud.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

14. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a)(1) because the controversy is between citizens of different States and the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs. This Court also has subject matter jurisdiction over this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2) because (1) there are over 100 members in the proposed class; (2) members of the proposed class have a different citizenship from HomeAway; and (3) the claims of the proposed class members exceed $5,000,000 in the aggregate.

15. Venue is proper in this District under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391 because HomeAway resides, for purposes of venue, in this District and is subject to personal jurisdiction in this District.

PARTIES

16. Plaintiff, Ivan Arnold (“Plaintiff”), is an individual. Plaintiff owns a vacation home located in the United States. Plaintiff has been a HomeAway subscriber since at least 2013. On February 2, 2016, Plaintiff renewed his HomeAway subscription at a total cost of $1,848. Plaintiff’s contract with HomeAway consists of (and his relationship with HomeAway is governed by) the HomeAway Terms and Conditions effective September 15, 2015, a true and correct copy of which is attached to this Complaint as Exhibit 1.

17. Defendant HomeAway, Inc. (“HomeAway”) is a corporation duly organized under the laws of the State of Delaware, with its headquarters and principal place of business in Austin, Texas. HomeAway operates the world’s largest online market for the vacation and rental industry. It owns and operates at least 40 websites, including, in the United States, HomeAway.com, VRBO.com and VacationRentals.com

18. The true names, roles and/or capacities of Defendants named as DOES 1 through 10, inclusive, are currently unknown to Plaintiff and, therefore, are named as Defendants under fictitious names. Plaintiff will identify their true identities and their involvement in the wrongdoing at issue if and when they become known.

19. The acts alleged to have been done by Defendants, and each of them were authorized, ordered or done by their directors, officers, agents, partners, employees or representatives while actively engaged in the management of each defendant’s respective affairs.

NATURE OF THE ACTION

20. Vacation rentals are fully furnished, privately owned residential properties, including homes, condominiums, villas and cabins, that property owners and/or property managers rent to the public on a nightly, weekly or monthly basis.

21. HomeAway operates the world's largest online market for vacation rentals. As of the end of 2014, HomeAway's websites included approximately 1 million paid vacation rental listings. In 2014 alone, HomeAway's websites were visited approximately 884 million times.

22. HomeAway serves two major categories of users: (1) vacation home owners and managers who wish to rent vacation homes to tenants on a short term basis ("owners"), and (2) travelers who looking to rent vacation homes on a short term basis ("travelers").

23. Owners pay HomeAway an annual subscription fee, in exchange for which they are permitted to list their vacation homes for rent on one or more of HomeAway's websites. Owners who list their vacation homes are permitted to include information and material about their vacation home in their listing, including (among other things) a description of the vacation home, information about the cost to rent the home, information regarding when the vacation home is available to rent and pictures.

24. Through most or all of its websites, HomeAway offers more than one subscription "level" to owners. For example, on VRBO.com, HomeAway offers five subscription levels: classic, bronze, silver, gold and platinum, with each subscription level costing more than the level below. Thus, a bronze subscription costs more than a classic subscription, a silver subscription costs more than a bronze subscription, and so on. Depending on the level, these subscriptions cost owners several hundred to a thousand dollars for a one-year term.

25. According to HomeAway's marketing materials, owners obtain greater benefits the higher the level of their subscription. The most significant benefit owners receive for purchasing higher subscription levels is higher ranking in search results.

26. When a traveler searches one of HomeAway's websites for a vacation home (usually according to criteria such as location, travel dates and number of guests), the website produces a search result that consists of a list of vacation homes meeting most or all of the search criteria input by the traveler. Vacation homes posted on the website by silver-level subscribers are supposed to appear above vacation homes posted by classic-level subscribers; vacation homes posted on the website by gold-level subscribers are supposed to appear above vacation homes posted by silver-level subscribers; and vacation homes posted on the website by platinum-level subscribers are supposed to appear above vacation homes posted by gold-level subscribers.

27. In addition to these different subscription levels, HomeAway also sells optional “bundles” to owners. For owners in the United States, HomeAway offers 2 bundles: (1) a “U.S. Bundle”, and (2) a “Global Bundle”. Purchasing the U.S. Bundle is supposed to cause owners’ vacation homes to appear on HomeAway’s three principal United States websites: VRBO.com, HomeAway.com and VacationRentals.com. Purchasing the Global Bundle is supposed to cause owners’ vacation homes to appear on all three of those United States websites, plus 24 additional international websites owned by HomeAway. HomeAway sells these bundles on a year-long subscription basis at a cost of several hundred dollars each.

28. Prior to February 9, 2016, HomeAway obtained its revenues principally through the sale of these subscriptions and bundles to owners. It did not charge travelers for the use of its websites and did not charge travelers booking fees.

29. Indeed, HomeAway promoted the fact that its websites were was free to travelers and would remain free to travelers. Thus, Brian Sharples (“Sharples”), HomeAway’s co-founder and CEO said “We will also by the way continue to be free for travelers.”

30. HomeAway distinguished itself from competitors like TripAdvisor and Airbnb on the basis that travelers could search for and book vacation homes on its websites without being charged anything other than the cost of the vacation rental itself and made statements designed to indicate that HomeAway would remain free to travelers. Thus, Sharples said:

[W]hat will be different on HomeAway? Online bookable doesn't mean we'll get out of the subscription business. Our customers love subscriptions, they love it. They don't want to be paying. The vast majority of customers don't want to be paying commissions to somebody. So, we are going to keep to that as a differentiator in our business, no question about it.

We are going to be free to travelers. Trip advisor and Airbnb have chosen to charge big fees to travelers. Well, we're going to have a pretty sizeable marketing budget in the next few years. And we're going to be letting everybody know, when you come to our platform and you don't pay a fee and we think that's a big deal.

31. Indeed, HomeAway said publicly that, when it formed, it had specifically decided to adopt a "marketplace" business model wherein it charged owners fees to list their vacation homes on HomeAway's websites, rather than charging consumers to use the sites. Indeed, HomeAway described this "marketplace" model as being central to its business plan. When creating the HomeAway business model, Sharples learned of Expedia, Inc.'s attempted foray into the vacation rental market, its failure and the reasons for its failure. As HomeAway learned, Expedia purchased Vacationspot.com, then the leading vacation rental marketplace business, in March 2000, but Vacationspot.com went out of business soon after its acquisition by Expedia. Foremost among the reasons for Expedia's failure with vacationspot.com was its decision to change the website's model from a marketplace where owners paid subscription fees for the right to list their properties on the website into an OTA with a fee-based model where customers were charged a percentage of the total booking price.

32. Consistent with its representations, HomeAway did, for several years, adhere to this marketplace model whereby it charged owners fees to list their vacation properties on HomeAway's websites but permitted travelers to search and book without any charge other than the cost of the vacation home itself.

33. It even drafted its agreement with subscribing owners like Plaintiff to reflect this marketplace model. Thus, HomeAway's Terms and Conditions provided:

"HomeAway.com and other Sites act as a venue to allow homeowners and property managers who advertise on the Site (each, a "member") to offer for rent in a variety of pricing formats, a specific vacation or short term rental property to potential renters...."

34. HomeAway's websites similarly promoted HomeAway's marketplace model by advertising that:

- a. "VRBO has no booking fees and is free for travelers."
- b. "No traveler fees. Free to book with no hidden costs."
- c. "No fees for travelers. No online booking fees or hidden costs."

35. In reliance on HomeAway's representations that it was and would remain a vacation rental marketplace free to travelers booking vacation homes on its sites, Plaintiff purchased a platinum level subscription and global bundle from HomeAway on February 2, 2016. He paid $1,840 to HomeAway for that subscription and bundle. At the time Plaintiff purchased that year-long subscription and bundle, HomeAway's fees and charges did not include any booking or service fees to travelers.

36. When Plaintiff purchased that subscription and bundle, HomeAway's standard contract, titled Terms and Conditions, specified that HomeAway's rates and fees would not change during the one-year term of Plaintiff's subscription:

“For subscription listings, the rates in effect at the time of the member’s next subscription renewal, new listing or a member’s upgrade or any other additional or new order of any product or service will govern for such renewal or other order.”

37. The contract also specified that any non-clerical or substantive changes to the Terms and Conditions would be effective only if approved by Plaintiff:

“We reserve the right, in our sole discretion, to amend these Terms, in whole or in part, at any time, with or without your consent and you acknowledge and agree that your consent to any such amendment is not required in the event the proposed amendment is clerical and/or non-substantive in nature.

Notification of any amendment will be posted on the Site by the indication of the last amendment date at the top of these Terms and will be effective immediately.

If you disagree with any non-clerical and/or substantive amendment to these Terms, then (i) your sole remedy as a traveler, or any other user other than a member, is to discontinue your use of the Site, and (ii) your sole remedy as a member is to withhold your consent to the applicability of the proposed amendment to your use of the Site, in which case your use of the Site will continue to be governed by the terms and conditions that were applicable to your use of the Site during the then current term of your subscription as the same were in effect immediately prior to the proposed amendment and you agree that you are responsible for keeping a copy of such terms.”

38. Thus, under the terms of Plaintiff’s and HomeAway’s contract, HomeAway was prohibited from changing its fees or rates during the one-year term of Plaintiff’s subscription without Plaintiff’s consent.

39. At no time since renewing his subscription on February 2, 2016, has Plaintiff consented to any change in HomeAway's fees or rates.

40. Nevertheless, despite these contractual obligations and without Plaintiff's consent, on February 9, 2016, HomeAway unilaterally, substantively, non-clerically and materially changed its fee and rate structure. No longer would HomeAway adhere to the marketplace model that it had previously promoted as superior to other models. No longer would HomeAway be free to travelers as it had previously promised it would remain.

41. On February 9, 2016, HomeAway began doing precisely what it promised it would not do and exactly what the contract does not permit. It began charging service fees to travelers.

42. After February 9, HomeAway began charging travelers "service fees" equal to between 4% and 10% of the rental rate. Thus, far from being free to travelers, HomeAway's newly imposed service fee costs travelers several hundred dollars on top of their rental rate.

43. The effect of HomeAway's new "service fee" has been significant, immediate and (for Plaintiff and other owners) consistently negative.

44. Plaintiff and other owners have been damaged by HomeAway's adoption of its new "service fee," which was done without notice and in breach of HomeAway's contracts with Plaintiff and other owners.

a. Plaintiff's and other owners' subscriptions to HomeAway's websites have been devalued. Plaintiff and other owners paid hundreds or thousands of dollars to subscribe to HomeAway's websites at a time when HomeAway did not charge fees to travelers. Had HomeAway been charging fees to travelers when Plaintiff and other owners subscribed, Plaintiff and other owners either would not have subscribed or would not have paid as much for their subscriptions as they did pay.

b. Plaintiffs and other owners have lost bookings because of HomeAway's "service fee" to travelers. When confronted with an obligation to pay fees on top of the cost of a vacation rental, travelers decline to rent Plaintiff's and other owners' vacation homes. As a result, Plaintiff and other owners are receiving fewer bookings than they would have received in the absence of HomeAway's new "service fee" to travelers.

CLASS ALLEGATIONS

45. This action is brought and may properly be maintained as a class action pursuant to the relevant provisions of Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b) and (c). Plaintiffs bring this action on behalf of themselves and all other persons similarly situated as representative members of the following proposed class (the "Class"):

All vacation home owners and managers who purchased a subscription to one or more of HomeAway's web sites between February 9, 2015 and February 8, 2016. Expressly excluded from the Class are HomeAway and its subsidiaries, affiliates, officers, directors and employees.

46. This action is also brought on behalf of the following sub-class (the "California Sub-Class"):

All California residents who purchased a subscription to one or more of HomeAway's web sites between February 9, 2015 and February 8, 2016. Expressly excluded from the California Sub-Class are HomeAway and its subsidiaries, affiliates, officers, directors and employees.

47. In this suit, plaintiff seeks for the members of the Class and California Sub-Class both equitable relief, including declaratory, injunctive, restitutionary and other equitable monetary relief and damages as set forth more fully below.

NUMEROSITY OF THE CLASS

48. The proposed Class and California Sub-Class are so numerous that the individual joinder of all their members in one action is impracticable. While the exact number and the identities of Class and California Sub-Class members are not completely known at this time but can be ascertained through appropriate investigation and discovery, Plaintiffs estimate the Class and California Sub-Class numbers in the tens of thousands or hundreds of thousands.

EXISTENCE AND PREDOMINANCE OF COMMON QUESTIONS OF LAW AND FACT

49. Common questions of law and fact arising out of the claims here at issue exist as to all members of the Class and California Sub-Class and predominate over any individual issues. These common legal and factual questions include, but are not limited to, the following:

- a. Whether the Terms and Conditions restrict HomeAway from unilaterally changing its fees and rates without approval;
- b. Whether HomeAway represented that it would not charge fees to travelers;
- c. Whether HomeAway began charging fees to travelers;
- d. Whether HomeAway's practice of charging fees to travelers breached the parties' contracts;
- e. Whether HomeAway's practice of charging fees to travelers deprived Class members of the benefits of their contracts;
- f. Whether HomeAway's conduct injured the Class and California Sub-Class;
- g. The amount of revenues and profits HomeAway received and/or the amount of monies or other obligations imposed on or lost by Class and California Sub-Class members as a result of HomeAway's conduct;

h. Whether Class and California Sub-Class members are threatened with irreparable harm and/or are entitled to injunctive and other equitable relief and, if so, what is the nature of such relief; and

i. Whether Class and California Sub-Class members are entitled to payment of equitable monetary relief and/or damages plus interest thereon, and if so, what is the nature of such relief.

TYPICALITY OF CLAIMS

50. Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of members of the Class and California Sub-Class. Plaintiff and all members of the Class and California Sub-Class entered into substantially identical contracts with HomeAway pursuant to which they were permitted to list their vacation homes for rent on one or more of HomeAway's websites. Pursuant to the terms of those contracts, HomeAway was prohibited from changing its rates and charges during the terms of those agreements without the express approval of Plaintiff and the Class or California Sub-Class. Notwithstanding the fact that Plaintiff and the Class and California Sub-Class did not approve any change to HomeAway's rates or fees, HomeAway unilaterally and without any legal right to do so changed its rates and fees during the terms of its contracts with Plaintiff and the members of the Class and California Sub-Class. Plaintiff and the Class and California Sub-Class have been damaged by HomeAway's conduct in that their subscriptions to HomeAway's websites have been devalued to an amount less than they paid for those subscriptions and in that they have lost bookings of their vacation rentals they otherwise would have received in the absence of HomeAway's impermissible "service fee" to travelers.

ADEQUATE REPRESENTATION

51. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the members of the Class and California Sub-Class in that he has no irreconcilable conflicts with or interests materially antagonistic to those of the other Class or California Sub-Class members.

52. Plaintiff has retained attorneys experienced in the prosecution of class actions, and who have been previously appointed by courts as adequate class counsel.

SUPERIORITY AND SUBSTANTIAL
BENEFITS OF CLASS LITIGATION

53. A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient group-wide adjudication of this controversy and possesses substantial benefits. Individual joinder of all members of the Class and California Sub-Class is impracticable, and no other group method of adjudication of all claims asserted herein is more efficient and manageable while at the same time providing all the remedies available to ensure the full purpose of the laws at issue here are effectuated.

54. Furthermore, as the damages suffered by each individual member of the Class and California Sub-Class may be relatively small compared to the expense and burden of individual litigation in order to obtain such relief, it would be difficult or impossible for individual members of the Class and California Sub-Class to redress the wrongs done to them, and the cost to the court system of adjudicating such litigation on an individual basis would be substantial. The Class and California Sub-Class members, because of the amounts at stake, would have little interest in individually controlling the prosecution of separate actions. To counsel's knowledge there is no substantial litigation concerning this controversy pending against the parties.

55. It is not anticipated that there will be any difficulties in the management of this litigation due to the focus of the wrongdoing on HomeAway's conduct and the level of its knowledge of the true facts. In contrast, individualized litigation would present the potential for varying, inconsistent, or contradictory judgments and would magnify the delay and expense to all parties and to the court system resulting from multiple trials of the same factual issues. The conduct of this action as a class action presents fewer management difficulties, conserves the resources of the parties and the court system, and protects the rights of each Class member as compared to other methods for the group-wide adjudication of this controversy.

56. Thus, both the Class (and California Sub-Class) and the court system achieve substantial benefits by the prosecution of this action on a class-wide basis by avoiding the burden of multiple litigation involving identical claims, as well as by aiding legitimate business enterprises in curtailing illegitimate competition and ensuring a therapeutic and deterrent effect on those companies such as HomeAway that indulge in breaches of contract and fraudulent practices.

57. Notice of the pendency of and any resolution of this action can be provided to the Class members by individual mailed notice, or the best notice practicable under the circumstances.

58. This action is also properly certified to proceed on a class-wide basis under Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 23(b)(1) and (b)(2) because:

a. The prosecution of separate actions by the individual members of the Class and California Sub-Class would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications with respect to individual Class and Sub-Class members, thus establishing incompatible standards of conduct for HomeAway;

b. Because of the nature of some of the relief sought, the prosecution of separate actions by individual Class and California Sub-Class members would create a risk of adjudication with respect to them that would, as a practical matter, be dispositive of the interests of the other Class and California Sub-Class members not parties to such adjudications or would substantially impair or impede the ability of such Class and California Sub-Class members to protect their interests; and

c. Defendant has acted or refused to act in respects generally applicable to the Class, thereby making appropriate final injunctive relief with regard to the members of the Class as a whole in terms of the equitable relief sought.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(Breach of Contract)
(On Behalf of Plaintiff and the Class)

59. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 58 above as though fully set forth herein.

60. As set for the herein, Plaintiff and HomeAway entered into a contract attached hereto as Exhibit A.

61. Plaintiff has fully performed all material covenants, conditions and obligations he was required to perform by reason of the contract, except to the extent waived, excused or made impossible by HomeAway's breaches of the contract.

62. Section 21 of the contract provides:

“For subscription listings, the rates in effect at the time of the member's next subscription renewal, new listing or a member's upgrade or any other additional or new order of any product or service will govern for such renewal or other order.”

63. Section 21 of the contract also provides that HomeAway cannot make any non-clerical or substantive changes or amendments to the contract without Plaintiff's consent.

64. As set forth herein, HomeAway has materially breached the parties' contract by (1) unilaterally and without Plaintiff's consent instituting new and additional rates and fees that were not in effect at the time Plaintiff renewed his subscription, and (2) purporting to unilaterally make substantive, non-clerical changes to the contract.

65. As a direct and proximate result of HomeAway's breaches of contract, Plaintiff has suffered, and will continue to suffer in the future, damages in an amount to be proven at trial, plus interest allowable under applicable law.

66. Plaintiff is entitled to an award of attorneys' fees pursuant to Chapter 38 of the Texas Civil Practice and Remedies Code.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(Breach of Duty of Good Faith and Fair Dealing)
(On Behalf of Plaintiff and the Class)

67. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 65 above as if fully set forth herein.

68. A special relationship exists between Plaintiff and HomeAway due to the element of trust necessary to accomplish the goals of the undertaking and the imbalance of bargaining power between them.

a. An element of trust is necessary to accomplish the goals of the undertaking because, inter alia, when travelers rent Plaintiff's or Class members' vacation homes through HomeAway's web sites, Plaintiff and the Class must rely upon HomeAway to (i) notify them of the rental, (ii) accurately communicate the traveler's name and other information, (iii) accurately communicate the amount of the renting traveler's payment, and (iv) transfer the full amount of travelers' payments to Plaintiff's or Class members' bank accounts. Once a traveler makes a booking, Plaintiff and the Class must also trust HomeAway to convey accurate information to the traveler on Plaintiff's and the Class' behalf. An element of trust is also necessary because Plaintiff and the Class must trust HomeAway to design its web site and its search listing algorithms to accurately present Plaintiff and the Class members' listings and to present them as ranked according to Plaintiff's and Class members' subscription levels.

b. An imbalance of bargaining power also exists between Plaintiff and the Class on the one hand and HomeAway on the other hand. HomeAway owns and operates the world's largest online marketplace for the vacation rental industry. Its sites list more than one million vacation homes, substantially more than any of its would-be competitors. Its sites also attract nearly one billion web site visits per year, materially more than any of its would-be competitors. As a result, Plaintiff and the Class have no reasonable alternative to HomeAway, leading to inequitable bargaining power between them and forcing Plaintiff and the Class to accept the terms offered to them by HomeAway. Moreover, HomeAway exercises exclusive control over payments received from travelers when they rent Plaintiff's and Class members' vacation homes through HomeAway's web sites. As a result, Plaintiff and the Class are reliant on HomeAway to forward those payments in full and without unreasonable delay, fees or other charges.

69. As a result, a duty of good faith and fair dealing runs from HomeAway to Plaintiff and the Class. That duty of good faith and fair dealing imposes upon HomeAway an obligation to cooperate with Plaintiff and the Class to enable performance and achievement of the expected benefits of the contract and prohibits HomeAway from engaging in any activity or conduct which would prevent Plaintiff and the Class from receiving the expected benefits of the contract or that evades the spirit of the transaction.

70. Plaintiff has fully performed all covenants, conditions and obligations required by him to be performed by reason of the contract, except to the extent waived, excused or made impossible by HomeAway's breaches of the contract.

71. HomeAway breached its duty of good faith and fair dealing owed to Plaintiff by materially changing its rates and fees during the term of the contract, including by imposing a new “service fee” on travelers who rent Plaintiff’s vacation home through HomeAway’s websites. By this conduct, HomeAway has denied, and continues to deny, Plaintiff the benefits he expected under the contracts, namely, the ability to rent his vacation home to the largest number of qualified travelers reasonably possible.

72. As a direct and proximate result of HomeAway’s breaches of duty, Plaintiff has been damaged in an amount to be proven at trial.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(Fraud)
(On Behalf of Plaintiff and the Class)

73. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 58 above as if fully set forth herein.

74. At various times before Plaintiff renewed his subscription to HomeAway’s websites, HomeAway represented that booking through its sites was and would remain free to travelers.

75. Those representations were material to Plaintiff, such that, had Plaintiff known that the representations were false, Plaintiff would have not renewed his subscription or would only have renewed his subscription at a lower price. But Plaintiff did not know the true facts.

76. HomeAway knew that its representations were false and intended for Plaintiff and the Class to rely upon its false representations.

77. HomeAway’s misrepresentations have proximately caused injury to Plaintiff in an amount to be proved at trial.

FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(Fraudulent Concealment)
(On Behalf of Plaintiff and the Class)

78. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the allegations in paragraphs 1 through 58, above as if fully set forth herein.

79. HomeAway, in its marketing materials and website, represents to owners that, “in traveler searches, results are initially ordered according to subscription level” and that “within subscription levels, the order in which listings appear is determined by our recently introduced best match system.”

80. HomeAway, in its marketing materials and website, also represents to owners that vacation homes listed for rent by platinum-level subscribers will appear in search results above vacation homes listed for rent by gold-level subscribers, that vacation homes listed for rent by gold-level subscribers will appear in search results above vacation homes listed for rent by silver-level subscribers, that vacation homes listed for rent by silver-level subscribers will appear in search results above vacation homes listed for rent by bronze-level subscribers and that vacation homes listed for rent by bronze-level subscriber will appear in search results above vacation homes listed for rent by classic level subscribers.

81. In addition to these annual subscriptions, HomeAway also offers owners a pay-per-booking option, which involves no annual subscription fee, but instead charges owners a commission equal to 8% of the booking cost.

82. HomeAway, in its marketing materials and website, represents that pay-per-booking listings are listed in search results based solely upon “a combination of traveler preferences and the booking experience a listing provides.”

83. HomeAway nowhere discloses and, indeed, affirmatively conceals the true facts about these pay-per-booking listings: namely (on information and belief) that HomeAway’s search listing algorithm gives special weight to pay-per-booking listings, such that pay-per-booking listings appear higher in search results than they would if they were subscription listings.

84. HomeAway and Plaintiff were, at all relevant times, in a contractual relationship such that HomeAway had a duty to disclose this omitted and concealed fact.

85. That undisclosed and suppressed fact was material, such that had Plaintiff and the Class known that HomeAway's search listing algorithm gives extra weight and higher placement to pay-per-booking listings than to subscription-based listings, Plaintiff and the Class either would not have purchased annual subscriptions from HomeAway or would have paid less for their subscriptions.

86. At all relevant times, Plaintiff and the Class were ignorant of the undisclosed and suppressed information.

87. HomeAway's failure to disclose the undisclosed and suppressed information has proximately caused injury to Plaintiff and the Class in an amount to be proved at trial.

FIFTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Violation of Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act, V.T.C.A. §17.41, et seq.)

(On Behalf of Plaintiff and the Class)

88. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 86 above as if fully set forth herein.

89. On February 2, 2016, Plaintiff purchased goods and/or services consisting of (1) the visible listing of his vacation home on HomeAway's web sites, (2) advertising of Plaintiff's vacation home via HomeAway's web sites, (3) on line booking

90. By means of its representations and conduct alleged herein, HomeAway engaged in the following false, misleading and/or deceptive acts and/or practices in the conduct of trade or commerce:

a. HomeAway represented that its goods and/or services had characteristics and benefits which they do not have by falsely representing that owners who purchased subscriptions to its web sites would be able to rent their vacation homes to travelers without those travelers incurring any fees to HomeAway.

b. HomeAway represented that its goods and/or services had characteristics and benefits which they do not have by falsely representing that vacation home listings submitted by owners who purchased subscriptions to its web sites would appear above vacation home listings submitted by owners who did not purchase subscriptions to HomeAway's web sites.

c. HomeAway advertised goods and/or services with intent not to sell them as advertised by representing that owners who purchased subscriptions to HomeAway's web sites would be able to rent their vacation homes to travelers without those travelers incurring any fees to HomeAway when, in fact, HomeAway knew at the time that it would, in fact, impose fees on travelers booking vacation homes through its web sites.

d. HomeAway represented that the agreement between it and Plaintiff would confer or involve rights, remedies or obligations which it did not, in fact, convey or involve by falsely representing that owners who purchased subscriptions to its web sites would be able to rent their vacation homes to travelers without those travelers incurring any fees to HomeAway.

e. HomeAway represented that the agreement between it and Plaintiff would confer or involve rights, remedies or obligations which it did not, in fact, convey or involve by falsely representing that vacation home listings submitted by owners who purchased subscriptions to its web sites would appear above vacation home listings submitted by owners who did not purchase subscriptions to HomeAway's web sites.

f. HomeAway failed to disclose information concerning its goods and/or services which was known to HomeAway by failing to disclose that it intended to charge substantial fees to travelers booking vacation homes through its web sites.

g. HomeAway failed to disclose information concerning its goods and/or services which was known to HomeAway by failing to disclose that its search listing algorithm (on information and belief) gives special weight to pay-per-booking listings, such that pay-per-booking listings appear higher in search results than they would if they were subscription listings.

91. HomeAway's conduct alleged herein was unconscionable in that HomeAway, by means of its conduct alleged herein, took advantage (to a grossly unfair degree and to Plaintiff's detriment) of Plaintiff's lack of knowledge that HomeAway would begin on February 9, 2016, to charge travelers fees for renting vacation homes through HomeAway's web sites.

92. Plaintiff and the Class relied to their detriment on HomeAway's representations that it would not charge fees to travelers and/or relied to their detriment on the absence of any disclosure by HomeAway that it would begin on February 9, 2016, to charge fees to travelers for renting vacation homes through HomeAway's web sites.

93. Plaintiff and the Class relied to their detriment on HomeAway's representations that vacation home listings submitted by owners who purchased subscriptions to its web sites would appear above vacation home listings submitted by owners who did not purchase subscriptions to HomeAway's web sites and/or relied to their detriment on the absence of any disclosure by HomeAway that its search listing algorithm (on information and belief) gives special weight to pay-per-booking listings, such that pay-per-booking listings appear higher in search results than they would if they were subscription listings.

94. HomeAway's use or employment of the false, misleading, deceptive and unconscionable acts and/or practices alleged herein constitute a producing cause of economic damages to Plaintiff and the Class in an amount to be proved at trial.

SIXTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(Violation of Cal. Consumer Legal Remedies Act, Cal. Civ. Code § 1750, et seq.)
(On Behalf of Plaintiff and the California Sub-Class)

95. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 58 above as if fully set forth herein.

96. The Terms and Conditions attached hereto as Exhibit A are a contract of adhesion presented to Plaintiff and the California Sub-Class on a take it or leave it basis.

97. This cause of action is brought pursuant to the California Consumers Legal Remedies Act ("CLRA"), Civil Code section 1750, et seq. Plaintiff brings this action on his own behalf and on behalf of the Class members, all of whom are similarly situated consumers within the meaning of Civil Code section 1781.

98. The acts and practices described in this Complaint were intended to result in the sale of goods and/or services -- specifically subscriptions to HomeAway's web sites -- in consumer transactions. HomeAway has violated, and continues to violate, the CLRA, Civil Code section 1770, subdivisions (a)(5), (a)(9), (a)(14) and (a)(16) by:

a. representing that its goods and/or services had characteristics and benefits which they do not have by falsely representing that owners who purchased subscriptions to its web sites would be able to rent their vacation homes to travelers without those travelers incurring any fees to HomeAway.

b. representing that its goods and/or services had characteristics and benefits which they do not have by falsely representing that vacation home listings submitted by owners who purchased subscriptions to its web sites would appear above vacation home listings submitted by owners who did not purchase subscriptions to HomeAway's web sites.

c. advertising goods and/or services with intent not to sell them as advertised by representing that owners who purchased subscriptions to HomeAway's web sites would be able to rent their vacation homes to travelers without those travelers incurring any fees to HomeAway when, in fact, HomeAway knew at the time that it would, in fact, impose fees on travelers booking vacation homes through its web sites.

d. representing that the transaction between HomeAway and Plaintiff would confer or involve rights, remedies or obligations which it did not, in fact, convey or involve by falsely representing that owners who purchased subscriptions to its web sites would be able to rent their vacation homes to travelers without those travelers incurring any fees to HomeAway.

e. representing that the transaction between it and Plaintiff would confer or involve rights, remedies or obligations which it did not, in fact, convey or involve by falsely representing that vacation home listings submitted by owners who purchased subscriptions to its web sites would appear above vacation home listings submitted by owners who did not purchase subscriptions to HomeAway's web sites.

f. failing to disclose information concerning HomeAway's goods and/or services which was known to HomeAway by failing to disclose that it intended to charge substantial fees to travelers booking vacation homes through its web sites.

g. failing to disclose information concerning its goods and/or services which was known to HomeAway by failing to disclose that its search listing algorithm (on information and belief) gives special weight to pay-per-booking listings, such that pay-per-booking listings appear higher in search results than they would if they were subscription listings.

99. Plaintiff has suffered injury as a result of HomeAway's unlawful conduct because he purchased a subscription to HomeAway's web sites believing, based on HomeAway's representations, that travelers who rented Plaintiff's vacation home through HomeAway's web sites would not be charged any fees by HomeAway, when in fact HomeAway planned to institute and did institute fees to travelers who rented Plaintiff's vacation home through HomeAway's web sites. These misrepresentations and omissions also resulted in higher prices for subscriptions by owners to HomeAway's web sites than otherwise would have been charged in the absence of these misrepresentations and omissions.

100. HomeAway concealed from Plaintiff accurate information concerning HomeAway's fees to travelers who rent vacation homes through HomeAway's web sites, including by concealing its intention to begin charging fees to travelers on February 9, 2016.

101. On information and belief, HomeAway's misrepresentations and omissions described in the preceding paragraphs were intentional, or alternatively, made without the use of reasonable procedures adopted to avoid such errors.

102. HomeAway, directly or indirectly, has engaged in substantially similar conduct with respect to Plaintiff and to each member of the Class.

103. Unless HomeAway is enjoined from engaging in such wrongful actions and conduct in the future, members of the consuming public will be further damaged by HomeAway's conduct.

104. Plaintiff and the Class are entitled to equitable relief on behalf of Plaintiff and the members of the Class in the form of an order, pursuant to Civil Code section 1780, subdivision (a)(2)-(5), prohibiting HomeAway from continuing to engage in the above-described violations of the CLRA. Plaintiff and the Class further seek reasonable attorneys' fees under Civil Code section 1780(e).

105. Plaintiff and the Class do not seek damages, restitution or punitive damages for HomeAway's violations of the CLRA at this time. Instead, Plaintiff will amend this Claim for Relief to seek damages, restitution and/or punitive damages at a future date.

SEVENTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(Violation of Calif. Unfair Competition Law, Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §17200)
(On Behalf of Plaintiff and the California Sub-Class)

106. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 104 above as if fully set forth herein.

107. The Terms and Conditions attached hereto as Exhibit A are a contract of adhesion presented to Plaintiff and the California Sub-Class on a take it or leave it basis.

108. Business & Professions Code section 17200, et seq. prohibits acts of "unfair competition" which is defined by Business & Professions Code section 17200 as including any "any unlawful, unfair or fraudulent business act or practice. . . ."

109. HomeAway has violated and continues to violate Business & Professions Code section 17200's prohibition against engaging, in "unlawful" business acts or practices, by, inter alia, the following:

- a. Violating the CLRA, Civil Code section 1750, et seq. (as alleged herein);
- b. Committing the breaches of contract alleged in this complaint;
- c. Committing the breaches of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing alleged in this complaint; and

d. Violating common law rules prohibiting fraud and concealment, as alleged in this complaint.

110. HomeAway also acted fraudulently and unfairly for purposes of section 17200. HomeAway's misrepresentations and omissions regarding its charges to travelers in its advertising, public statements and marketing were a material factor in inducing Plaintiff to purchase a subscription to HomeAway's web sites. Plaintiff suffered injury in fact and lost money and/or property as a result of HomeAway's unlawful business acts and practices and members of the California Sub-Class have suffered harm when each was required to pay a subscription fee to subscribe to one or more of HomeAway's web sites which they never would have paid if the true facts were known; or paid a price in excess of what they would have paid if HomeAway had accurately disclosed its fees and planned fees to travelers who rented vacation homes listed on HomeAway's web sites.

111. As a result of HomeAway's violations of the Business & Professions Code section 17200, et seq., Plaintiff and the California Sub-Class are entitled to equitable relief in the form of full restitution of the subscription fees they paid to HomeAway during the Class Period and/or in the form of full restitution of the inflated subscription fees they paid to HomeAway during the Class Period.

112. Plaintiff and the Class also seek an order enjoining HomeAway from continuing its unlawful business practices and from such future conduct.

EIGHTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(Breach of Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing)
(On Behalf of Plaintiff and the California Sub-Class)

113. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 58 above as if fully set forth herein.

114. The Terms and Conditions attached hereto as Exhibit A are a contract of adhesion presented to Plaintiff and the California Sub-Class on a take it or leave it basis.

115. The contract attached hereto as Exhibit A contains a covenant of good faith and fair dealing implied as a matter of law. The covenant of good faith and fair dealing imposes upon each party thereto a duty to cooperate with the other to enable performance and achievement of the expected benefits of the contract and prohibits them from engaging in any activity or conduct which would prevent the other party from receiving the expected benefits of the contract or that evades the spirit of the transaction.

116. Plaintiff has fully performed all covenants, conditions and obligations required by it to be performed by reason of the contract, except to the extent waived, excused or made impossible by HomeAway's breaches of the contract.

117. HomeAway breached its duty of good faith and fair dealing owed to Plaintiffs by materially changing its rates and fees during the term of the contract, including by imposing a new "service fee" on travelers who rent Plaintiff's vacation home through HomeAway's websites. By this conduct, HomeAway has denied, and continues to deny, Plaintiff the benefits he expected under the contracts, namely, the ability to rent his vacation home to the largest number of qualified travelers reasonably possible.

118. As a direct and proximate result of its breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, Plaintiff has been damaged in an amount to be proven at trial.)

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated, pray for judgment against defendants, and each of them jointly and severally, as follows:

1. An Order certifying the plaintiff Class and California Sub-Class and appointing Plaintiff and his counsel to represent the Class and California Sub-Class;

2. For damages in an amount to be proven at trial;
3. For treble damages;
4. For the declaratory, equitable, injunctive and/or monetary relief as appropriate for the particular causes of action;
5. For pre- and post-judgment interest;
6. For exemplary damages;
7. For attorneys' fees and costs; and
8. For such other and further relief as this Court may deem just and proper.

DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

Plaintiff demands a trial by jury on all claims so triable and an advisory jury for a factual determination on all equitable claims.

5. Your E-mail Address and Data; Our Privacy Policy; Data Transmittal.

When you provide your e-mail address, name or other information to us in connection with your use or access to the Site, any service or tool provided on the Site or otherwise, you agree to allow the Site and its affiliated websites to add your e-mail address, name or other information provided to our database of users. You may receive one or more promotional e-mails from either the Site or a website of one of HomeAway's affiliates. You are welcome to opt not to receive such promotional e-mails from the Site or such affiliates' websites at any time. Please review our Privacy Policy for more information regarding our email and other data collection practices and safeguards, and how to opt not to receive such emails. Your use of the Site signifies your acknowledgment of, and agreement, with our Privacy Policy.

Each user acknowledges and agrees that, regardless of such user's physical location, we may store and process any data transmitted to the Site from such user at locations both within and outside of the United States.

In the event that you use any of our tools that we may from time to time offer that integrate in any way with a third party website to which you have provided data or information, you acknowledge and agree that such third party website shall be responsible for how the data or information you have provided to such website is handled.

6. Identity Verification.

User verification on the Internet is difficult and we cannot, and do not assume any responsibility for, the confirmation of each user's purported identity. We encourage you to communicate directly with a traveler or member through the tools available on the Site, though even this does not assure you of the identity of the person with which you are communicating. We further encourage you to take other reasonable measures to assure yourself of the other person's identity and, for travelers, of the property and relevant details of your booking or proposed booking.

You agree to (i) keep your password and online ID for both your account with us and your email account secure and strictly confidential, providing it only to authorized users of your accounts, (ii) instruct each person to whom you give your online ID and password that he or she is not to disclose it to any unauthorized person, (iii) notify us immediately and select a new online ID and password if you believe your password for either your account with us or your email account may have become known to an unauthorized person, and (iv) notify us immediately if you are contacted by anyone requesting your online ID and password. Further, if we suspect any unauthorized access to your account, upon our request, you agree to promptly change your ID and password and take any other related action as we may reasonably request.

We discourage you from giving anyone access to your online ID and password for your account with us and your email account. However, if you do give someone your online ID and online password, or if you fail to adequately safeguard such information, you are responsible for any and all transactions that the person performs while using your account with us or your email account, even those transactions that are fraudulent or that you did not intend or want performed.

EACH USER ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT: (1) NEITHER HOMEAWAY NOR

ANY OF ITS AFFILIATES WILL HAVE ANY LIABILITY TO ANY USER FOR ANY UNAUTHORIZED TRANSACTION MADE USING ANY USER'S ID OR PASSWORD; AND (2) THE UNAUTHORIZED USE OF YOUR ONLINE ID AND PASSWORD FOR YOUR HOMEAWAY ACCOUNT OR YOUR EMAIL ACCOUNT COULD CAUSE YOU TO INCUR LIABILITY TO BOTH HOMEAWAY AND OTHER USERS. Further, we may, without notice to you, suspend or cancel your listing at any time even without receiving notice from you if we suspect, in our sole discretion, that your account with us or your email account is being used in an unauthorized or fraudulent manner.

7. Limitations on Communications and Use of Other Users' Information; No Spam.

You agree that, with respect to other users' personal information that you obtain directly or indirectly from or through the Site or through any Site-related communication, transaction or software, we have granted to you a license to use such information only for: (a) Site-related communications that are not unsolicited commercial messages, (b) using services offered through the Site, and (c) inquiring about or otherwise facilitating a financial transaction between you and the other user related to the purpose of the Site (such as inquiring about or booking an online booking or charging a personal credit card). Any other purpose will require express permission from the user. You may not use any such information for any unlawful purpose or with any unlawful intent.

In all cases, you must give users an opportunity to remove their information from your address book or database or other records and a chance to review what information you have collected about them. In addition, under no circumstances, except as defined in this provision, may you disclose personal information about another user to any third party without both our consent and the consent of the other user. You agree that other users may use your personal information to communicate with you in accordance with this provision. Further, you agree that you will protect other users' personal information with the same degree of care that you protect your own confidential information (using at minimum a reasonable standard of care), and you assume all liability for the misuse, loss, or unauthorized transfer of such information.

We do not tolerate spam or unsolicited commercial electronic communications of any kind. Therefore, without limiting the foregoing, you are not licensed to add a Site user, even a user who has rented a vacation property from you or to you, to your mailing list (email or physical mail) without the user's express consent. You may not use any tool or service on the Site to send spam or unsolicited commercial electronic communications of any kind or in any other way that would violate these Terms. You are responsible for all content you provide to the Site or through any tool or service provided on the Site.

8. Responsibility for Property Listings, Reviews and Other User contributed Content; Participation in Interactive Forums.

We have no duty to pre-screen content posted on the Site by members, travelers or other users, whether directly contributed by the user or contributed by us or a third party on behalf of the user (including, without limitation, property listings, reviews of a rental property, participation in an interactive community, forum or blog (each an "Interactive Forum") or any other content provided by a user to the Site), (collectively, “user contributed content”). We are not responsible for user contributed content. “User contributed content” also includes information that a user or any other person provided to a third party website or mobile application which is then provided to our Site by a tool we offer or any other exchange of user contributed content we have authorized.

We reserve the right to decline to permit the posting on the Site of or to remove from the Site any user contributed content that fails to meet our Content Guidelines, any other guidelines posted on a Site or if it otherwise violates these Terms, each as determined in our discretion. We may also remove user contributed content if it is brought to our attention, such as by notice given to us by a user or any third party that any part of these Terms, or any other requirements governing the posting of such content, has/have been apparently breached in respect of such content, as determined in our consent. Finally, we reserve the right, but do not assume the obligation, to edit a member’s content or user contributed content in a non-substantive manner solely to cause the content to comply with our content guidelines or formatting requirements or to provide services to members to create or improve on listings (such as translation services), in accordance with information we have about the property listed. Users remain responsible for reviewing their user-contributed content to ensure it is accurate and not misleading.

At a minimum, user contributed content must (as determined by us in our discretion):

Property Listings: All property listings on the Site are the sole responsibility of the member (who may be the owner or a property manager or duly authorized property manager or agent of the owner) and we specifically disclaim any and all liability arising from the alleged accuracy of the listings, reviews, or any alleged breaches of contract on a user's part. Members are solely responsible for keeping their property information up-to-date on the Site, including, but not limited to any and all representations about any property, its amenities, location, price, and its availability for a specific date or range of dates. We do not represent or warrant that any of the copy, content, property reviews, guest book entries, property location, suitability, pricing or availability information published on the Site is accurate or up-to-date even in the case where prospective travelers have searched for specific special offers, dates, or types of properties. We may from time to time provide or facilitate services to Members to create or improve the quality of their property listings. We also may from time to time create new or otherwise change the location or geographic descriptions we use to identify properties in their listings and search results. Consequently, we may change the location or geographic description associated with any property listing at any time without notice. However, we assume no responsibility to verify property listing content or the accuracy of the location. Members are solely responsible for ensuring the accuracy of location, geographic and other content and location or geographic descriptions and agree to promptly correct (or contact us to correct) any inaccuracy and travelers are solely responsible for verifying the accuracy of such content and descriptions.

Responsibility for All Other User Contributed Content: All other user contributed content is the sole responsibility of the user who contributed such content, whether such user contributed the content directly or through a third party website. Users are solely responsible for their user contributed content and we specifically disclaim all liability for user contributed content.

The user represents and warrants that the user owns or otherwise controls and have all legal rights to the user's submission and the name or other identifier used in connection with such submission including, but not limited to, all the rights necessary to provide, post, upload, input or submit the user contributed content. We reserve the right to request a proof of ownership or permission, and to refuse to post user generated content without such proof or if such proof is, in our sole discretion, insufficient.

License and Rights Granted to Us: By submitting or authorizing user contributed content, you grant to us and our affiliates a perpetual, worldwide, irrevocable, unrestricted, non-exclusive, royalty-free and fully paid-up license to use, copy, license, sublicense (through multiple tiers), adapt, distribute, display, publicly perform, reproduce, transmit, modify, edit and otherwise exploit the copy, the photographs and the likenesses (if any) of any of your user contributed content, in connection with our business or the business of our affiliates. Notwithstanding the foregoing, following the termination or expiration of a property listing subscription, we will not continue to display the user contributed content that was displayed in such listing.

You further grant us and our affiliates the ability to copyright and protect the user contributed content, including the images, copy, and content available via any member's listing, from the unauthorized use by unaffiliated third parties who may, from time to time, attempt to pirate such information via electronic or other means. This includes, but is not limited to, the right to file suit to seek injunctive relief to protect such material. You further agree to assist us—at our expense and control—to protect such copyrighted material from unauthorized redistribution.

You agree that we may sublicense all the rights granted to us under these Terms to one or more third parties we may contract with to display all or part of the member's property listing or otherwise provide promotional or other services related to our business.

Further, each member agrees that we may reproduce in whole or in part any photographic material supplied by such member in the promotion of either such member's property or the promotion of the Site.

In the event that it is determined that you retain any rights of attribution, integrity or any other moral rights in any user contributed content, you hereby declare that you do not require that any personally identifying information be used in connection with the user contributed content or any derivative works thereof and that you have no objection to the publication, use, modification, deletion or exploitation of the user contributed content by us or our affiliates.

Privacy Policy: We adhere to strong principles of privacy. You agree that we may access and use your user contributed content in accordance with these Terms or our Privacy Policy and we agree that we will only disclose your user contributed content in accordance with these Terms and our Privacy Policy.

misleading ; (iv) that it will not wrongfully deny access to the listed property; and (v) that it will not fail to provide a refund when due in accordance with the applicable cancellation policy or underlying rental agreement. Upon our request, each member agrees to promptly provide to us such proof of personal identification, proof that the condition, location, or amenities associated with the property are accurately described in the listing, proof of ownership of the property listed on the Site, and/or proof of authority to list the property as we may request. If you are a tenant who is listing a home, condominium, or apartment, please refer to your rental contract or lease, or contact your landlord, prior to listing the property to determine whether your lease or contract contains restrictions that would limit your ability to list your room, home, condominium or apartment. Listing your home may be a violation of your lease or contract and could result in legal action against you by your landlord, including possible eviction.

23. Appearance in Search Results.

We cannot guarantee that your listing will appear in any specific order in search results on a Site. Search order will fluctuate based on a variety of factors such as search parameters, subscription level purchased, listing quality, how frequently a calendar is updated, and other factors that we may deem important to the user experience from time to time. Listing appearance or order in any particular search result may also vary depending on the search criteria used by the particular traveler. We reserve the right to apply various search algorithms or to use methods to optimize results for particular travelers' experiences and the overall marketplace. Listings placed on a non-subscription basis, such as pay-per-booking, may not always appear in search results in any particular subscription level or at all. Listings distributed on third party sites are not guaranteed to display on such third party site in any particular order or at all. Search results and sort order may appear different on HomeAway's mobile application than they appear on the Site. To optimize the search experience for both members and travelers, HomeAway retains the right to run occasional tests that will be limited in duration but may alter how we display search results and subscription levels.

24. Content, Layout and Copy.

All content and copy edits submitted by members are subject to review and approval by us in our sole discretion. We reserve the right to refuse to publish any content that we determine in our sole discretion does not meet these Terms or is otherwise unacceptable to us. However, we assume no duty to review content and we shall not have any liability for any loss or damage resulting from the design or positioning of the copy, properties, content and/or photographs or any change made to any content, photograph or copy submitted by any member. All content must meet these Terms and our Content Guidelines. We reserve the right to edit content submitted to the Site in a non-substantive manner solely to cause the content to comply with our content guidelines or formatting requirements. Members are responsible for reviewing and ensuring that any content displayed on the Site appears as the member intended.

25. Photographs.

Photographs should depict the vacation rental as the main subject of the photograph and may not include children or adults if you do not have their legal consent or any information that would violate the privacy rights, intellectual property rights or any other rights of a third party. Photographs must meet our Content Guidelines. We reserve the right not to display or to remove any photographs that we determine, in our sole discretion, do not meet these Terms or are otherwise unacceptable to us.

By submitting a photograph to us, the member represents and warrants that (a) (i) it holds all intellectual property rights with respect to each submitted photograph, or (ii) it has secured from the copyright holder all rights necessary for the photograph to be used in an online advertisement, (b) that any people in the photograph have given permission for their likeness to be displayed in an online advertisement on the Site, (c) that the photograph accurately and fairly represents the subject of the photograph and has not been altered in any manner that would mislead a viewer of that photograph, and (d) that it will indemnify and hold harmless the Site and any member of the HOMEAWAY Group from any cause of action arising from any misrepresentation with respect to any and all photographs so submitted.

It is the member's responsibility to obtain reproduction permission for all photographic and other material used in its listings. The member warrants that it is the owner of the copyright in such material or is authorized by the owner thereof to grant to us the rights therein contained and agrees to provide any proof of such rights to us that we may request.

Further, each member agrees that we may reproduce in whole or in part any photographic material supplied by such member in the promotion of either such member's property or the promotion of the Site.

26. Uses of Our Trademarks or Logos.

There are limited ways in which you may use our trademarks or logos without specific prior written authorization. The following are general guidelines: It is usually permissible for you to refer to HomeAway or the name of one of our affiliate websites on which you list your property in a descriptive manner in your listing on the Site or in other permissible communications. For example, you might say "Check out my vacation rental on HomeAway," or "I list properties on HomeAway." However, you may not refer to HomeAway or any of our affiliates in any way that might lead someone to believe that your company or site is sponsored by, affiliated with, or endorsed by HomeAway or one of our affiliates. For example, you may not say "HomeAway sponsors my vacation rental," or describe your property as "HomeAway's best vacation rental." You may not use the HomeAway name or one of our affiliates' names on any other website that lists vacation rentals without our prior written authorization.

The HomeAway name and logo and those of the HomeAway Group and our affiliates are registered trademarks in the United States and other jurisdictions around the world. We generally do not permit the use of our names and logos, other than as described above or with our prior written authorization. If you want permission to use our name and/or logo in any other manner, including, without limitation, on any website, business card, signage, t-shirts, etc., or if you have other questions, you may visit help.homeaway.com.

27. Hypertext Links.

We reserve the right to refuse hypertext links to, or addresses of, other web sites from members' pages, and to remove links or web addresses without notice at our sole discretion. Further, we reserve the right to charge for hypertext links at any time.

28. Substitution of Properties; Advertising More Than One Property; Property Managers.

Each listing must relate to an individual and uniquely identified property, unless (i) you are a property manager who has signed up for one of our packages for members who are property managers or (ii) you otherwise purchased a listing package that expressly allows for substitution of properties. This means that:

(a) The property in a listing may not be substituted for another property without our consent. We may approve a request in our discretion if the property manager's contract for the property was terminated and the member provides sufficient proof, as requested by us, and completes any additional request forms we may request. The term of the subscription for any substituted property shall be the same as the term of the originally listed property (i.e., the term will not be extended past the original term).

If a member submits changes to an existing listing that, if approved, would substantially alter the listing to make it that of another property, then we have the right to terminate the listing and may choose, in our sole discretion, to retain any fees associated with the term of the previously existing listing as compensation for the violation of this condition.

(b) The listing specifically cannot be a mere example of properties in a given area. Only one property can appear on each listing, unless it is a property with multiple rental units on the same site and additional advertising units are purchased. We reserve the right to amend the copy or remove any listing when more than one property is described in such listing, and may choose, in our sole discretion to retain any fees associated with the initial term of such non-conforming listing as compensation for the violation of this condition.

(c) Members who manage twenty or more properties should contact HomeAway for Property Managers at (888) 581-1849 to discuss the packages that may best suit their needs. All other subscription listing packages require one subscription per listing (one subscription per property). Contact HomeAway for Property Managers for additional information.

29. Unauthorized Payment Methods; Subscription Payments; Automatic Renewal of Subscription Payments.

Payments between members and travelers: We are not a party to any payment transaction between members and travelers, even if we receive a commission in connection with any payment transaction. No member may request any traveler to mail cash, or utilize any instant-cash wire transfer service such as Western Union or MoneyGram in payment for all or part of a property rental transaction. Any violation of this term or any other unacceptable payment methods that may be posted on the Site may result in the immediate removal of the non-conforming listing from the Site without notice to the member and without refund. From time to time, we may become aware of users attempting to conduct a transaction that would involve an unauthorized payment method or a fraudulent payment method. Ideally, we hope to be able to assist users in avoiding such transactions, but we assume no liability or responsibility to do so or to inform users of any such actual or suspected activity.

Payments for subscriptions: Payment for subscription listings must be made to us in U.S. Dollars paid either by major credit or debit card, or a check drawn on a U.S. bank.

Automatic Renewal of Subscriptions: For any subscription paid for by credit card, such subscription shall automatically renew at the expiration of the then-current term for an additional term of the same duration (as the previous term) and at the then-current non-promotional subscription rate. If such subscription was purchased by check or another form of payment other than by credit card (if such other payment form was permitted), such subscription shall not be automatically renewed. Automatic renewal applies to all subscriptions purchased by credit card. The automatic renewal feature allows your service to remain uninterrupted at the expiration of your then-current term. If you wish to turn off auto-renewal, you must log on to your account and manually turn off auto-renewal in your owner dashboard (for HomeAway.com, VRBO.com and VacationRentals.com), at least 5 days prior to expiration of the then-current term. Upon any such turning off auto-renewal, your subscription will remain active through the expiration of your then-current subscription term; however your subscription will not be automatically renewed upon the expiration of your then current term. If your subscription does not auto-renew or expires at the end of your then current subscription term and you desire to renew your subscription, you will be required to pay the then-current non-promotional subscription rate to renew your subscription or to activate a new subscription.

If you do not turn off auto-renewal and you continue to use our subscription service, you re-affirm and authorize us to charge your credit card at the end of each subscription term for an additional term of the same duration as the initial term and at the then-current non-promotional subscription rate for the same product or service.

If the product or service that you last purchased has changed in any way or is no longer offered, you agree and authorize us to charge your credit card at the renewal of your subscription term for a product or service that is the most similar, as determined by us, to the product or service that you previously purchased, even if the price of such product or service is not the same of the prior product or service that you purchased. You agree to be responsible for any such charges, and we reserve the right to obtain payment directly from you if necessary.

If you wish to avoid billing of subscription fees for the renewal term to your credit card, you must turn off auto-renewal for your subscription at least 5 days before it renews. If you wish to change your credit card to be charged or if your credit card information otherwise changes, see help.homeaway.com for FAQ information on updating the information in your owner dashboard, as applicable or to provide the new or different credit card information, as applicable, to provide the new or different credit card information.

Non-Subscription Listings: If a Site enables you to list your property on a basis other than by subscription, you agree to pay us compensation as described to you in the sign up process for each rental of the property displayed in such listing, which terms may be updated by us from time to time without notice by us displaying the terms on the Site on which you signed up for the listing. The sign up process and additional notices you may receive from us may also provide additional terms and conditions for such listings.

30. Subscription Term, Refund Requests and Termination or Transfer of Listings.

Subscription Term: All subscription listings are sold to run the full term that is chosen by the member. The term starts on the date that the member submits the full or initial (as applicable) payment and expires on the last date of the term chosen by the member. For example, for an annual subscription term, if the member submits payment for the subscription on July 1st, the subscription would expire on June 30 of the following year.

Refund Requests: Generally, no refunds are available unless a member qualifies for a refund under any guarantee program we may have in effect. If you believe you qualify for a refund under a guarantee we are offering, you may contact customer support by sending your request to the address listed under “General – Contact Us” above and include your listing number, and your reason for dissatisfaction. We will then determine, in accordance with the applicable guarantee program, whether any refund is due.

Refund Requests for Subscription Listings Not Completed: In the event you purchase a subscription for a listing but do not complete the creation of the listing or the listing does not get posted after purchase for any other reason, refund requests will be considered only during the first three (3) months following the purchase date. If within such three (3) month period you do not complete the creation of your listing as we may require to display such listing on the Site (i) you shall not be entitled to any refund and (ii) your subscription will expire no more than 15 months from the purchase date of the subscription regardless of the listing posting date.

If you renew your subscription, or if your subscription automatically renews under its terms of your subscription, your listing will remain online for the entire subscription period without refund. If you sell your property and no longer wish for the listing to remain online, please contact us and we can remove the listing; however, no refund will be owed.

Our Right to Terminate a Listing: If, in our sole discretion, any member submits unsuitable material to our Site or into our database, misuses the Site or our online system or is in material breach of these Terms, we reserve the right to terminate such member’s subscription(s) immediately without refund. In addition, if we become aware of or receive a complaint or a series of complaints from any user or other third party regarding a member’s listing or rental practices that, in our sole discretion, warrants the immediate removal of such member’s listing from the Site (for example, and without limitation, if a member double-books a property for multiple travelers on the same date, or engages in any practice that, in our sole discretion, would be considered deceptive, unfair or improper within the vacation rental industry or in an online marketplace for vacation rentals, if we determine or suspect that the member’s payment-related practices or procedures are not secure, legal or otherwise proper, or if we receive a complaint that any listing's content infringes on the rights of a third party), then we may immediately terminate such member's listing(s) or subscription(s) without notice to the member and without refund. We assume no duty to investigate complaints. Finally, if any member is abusive or offensive to any employee or representative of the HomeAway Group, we reserve the right to terminate such member's listing(s) or subscription(s) immediately without refund. Finally, if any member is in breach of these Terms or its obligations to us or any of our third party providers then we may terminate such member's subscription(s) immediately without notice to the member and without refund.

Transfer of Listing to a Third Party: No listing may be transferred to another party. In the event of a property sale or change in property management, HomeAway will provide guidance on options for creating a new listing.

31. Additional Terms Applicable to Pay-Per-Booking Listings.

A description of the features and applicable fees and commissions that will apply to pay-per-booking listings will be displayed under the "List Your Property" tab of the Site offering such product, when made generally available.

When available, pay-per-booking listings may be agreed to by property owners and managers approved for an online payments account. Such accounts are subject to the additional terms, conditions and requirements set forth during the sign up for such an account, including those of our third party providers. Online booking and payments is required for all pay-per-booking listings. Online payments are provided by third party providers and are subject to the terms and conditions and privacy policies of such providers.

Pay-per-booking listings may be converted to subscription listings at any time; however any bookings already made shall remain subject to applicable pay-per-booking fees and commissions.

Cancellation policies are required for all pay-per-booking listings, and requirements for such cancellation policies shall be displayed through the "List Your Property" tab of the Site offering the pay-per-booking listing. To the fullest extent legally permissible, Members who list their properties in a pay-per-booking listing, agree to rent such properties through such listing and not through any other means.

32. Distribution of Listings to Third Party Websites.

To enable Members to obtain broader distribution of their properties, we may provide your listing information, or otherwise provide for the distribution of, your listing on a Third Party Website. Additional terms and conditions may apply to such distributions, as we may notify you of via your online account or email.
